THE simplest scenes and the most commonplace actions approach poetry when memory charges them with meaning. In the following pages you will see small poems that have surrounded you during the years you have spent at Bates. The emotions these picture-poems evoke depend on your memory of Bates; some may be bitter, some warm, reflecting your total reaction to the school. These pictures have an advantage over words—they cannot be hypocritical—they tell what you have seen before. Remember carefully.

Remember rain—weeks of rain in the autumn, whipping the bright leaves down, running brook-like in the streets, dripping in maddening monotony from the buildings, ushering in November grey. Remember people in the rain—some with black umbrellas, going to a private Munich; others marching like bright, mobile pyramids in oilskins; dejected professors, as much depressed by rain and our ignorance as any; mad saints who ran bareheaded in downpours they regarded as blessings. Remember rain preparing for the snow, rain preparing for the spring.

Remember more than weather—chaos in the morning room; the stone-age creature who looks out of a mirror over a washbowl: classes amused; classes unamused: studying in yoga poses in a dorm; battling fatigue in the library; faculty official and faculty unofficial, incomprehensible Jekyll-Hydes. These are poems too, less obvious than couples sharing secrets that are no secrets, but clear to anyone who has a memory to make poems.

Take these poems; take them slowly. Let your eyes see, your memory work. Let these poems come alive.

Then they said, "Speak to us of the Faculty."
And I answered, saying:

The Faculty is a group of overcoated men, drinking coffee by the candy counter in the den. . . .

a group attending long meetings and making decisions to eliminate a vacation or double the no-cut days.

It is a physics' prof discussing the translations of the Bible with you, as you assist him in a freshmen lab. . . .

a cultch prof discussing your physics thesis with you as you enjoy coffee at a Sunday afternoon "dorm tea."

It is Prof. Sampson playing softball with his finite math class at a spring outing

Miss Schaeffer inquiring about your plans for next year

Dr. Jackman asking if you are enjoying writing your thesis

A scarf and a bookbag; a mace and a shotgun; poetry and a fur hat; cigarettes and a strand of sandy hair.

Silence when a student hopes for recognition;
recognition when he expects only silence.

Satirical comments on an idea sincerely conceived;
understanding of a question hesitatingly asked.

Some welcome the friendship of a student;
some welcome the end of the day;

So it is with all people.

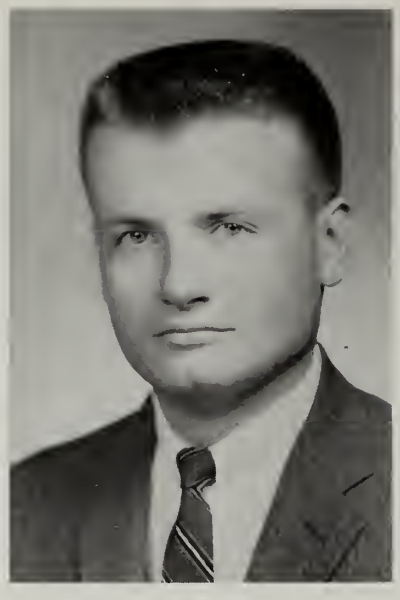
We have certain rules about decorating.

MABEL L. LIBBY, A.B.
Registrar
You'll have to get your advisor to sign that.

WALTER H. BOYCE, A.M.
Dean of Men
I'll call you.

RAYBORN L. ZERBY, Ph.D.
Dean of the Faculty
There are certain things that are appropriate during the Chapel programs; knitting and sleeping are in poor taste.

MILTON L. LINDHOLM, Ed.M.
Director of Admissions for Men
Again, welcome to Bates.



HARRY W. BENNERT, JR., A.B.
Assistant Alumni Secretary
I tend to remember a class by their Senior skit.

AUGUST BUSCHMANN, A.M.
Associate Professor of German
Most graduate schools require a reading knowledge of French and German.

CARROLL P. BAILEY, M.S.
Associate Professor of Physics
Is that what the book says?

Now, when the supply is increased, the price is lowered and what happens to the demand?

LENA WALMSLEY, A.M.
Professor of Physical Education for Women
The problems will see me after class.

PAUL WHITBECK, A.M.
Professor of English
It must be Saturday

DAVID WILLIAMS, M.B.A.
Assistant Professor of Economics
Some of you went down in this last one.

ALFRED J. WRIGHT, JR., Ph.D.
Associate Professor of French
When you're as sophisticated as I am, you'll understand.

THEODORE P. WRIGHT, JR., Ph.D.
Assistant Professor of Government and Economics
Whambo!

PERCY D. WILKINS, M.S.

Cluttered bulletin boards . . . a call for volunteers . . . a rush to the sign-out book the second Tuesday of the month . . . STUDENTS in the mailbox . . . dues . . . Orientation . . . Pops Concert . . . lectures, meetings, discussions . . . committees . . . "Let's get organized!" . . .

What does it all amount to? More than "busywork." Our organizations, from the all-campus group to the departmental club, hold out to any student here a variety of opportunities to do something meaningful with his "spare time." And it's pretty important to be a part of something.

The person with religious interests can find a job with C.A.; with dramatic talents, a role at the Little Theatre; with a love of sports, an intramural contest; with a speaking knowledge of Spanish, a seat at La Mesa Espanola. These are not merely the things we do in our spare time, but what we make time for because they mean something to us.

We will remember the minutes and hours we spent as proctors or as members of the Chapel Choir in terms of what we learn and what we give. They have as much value as we give them. If we have time to complain, we have time to give to the GARNET or the Dance Committee. Here is a part of Bates which is ours—to make as good as we want it to be. Its benefits are not inherent but potential.

The extra-curricular teaches us a course the academic phase of the "best four years of our lives" does not include—the satisfaction of accomplishing something well because we learned to pull together toward a purpose. It may be a discussion on disarmament, an outstanding Carnival, or an effective period of Freshmen Rules. But the greatest part of our success will be our relationships with other people, our growing appreciation and understanding of others, our opportunity to gain from our acquaintance with them and to leave something of ourselves to them . . . Idealistic? Perhaps. But it's part of the potential of these groups, and because we'll spend all our years with other people, it's part of the preparation for life we hear so much about.

These are our organizations—for which all have time, to which all can contribute, from which all may learn—and we are proud of them.

Congrats, Betty of 1960

I remember once, as a freshman, coming out of Coram Library with a friend, and as we proceeded between Coram and Carnegie to the den, my friend stopped, and with his hand made a panoramic gesture indicating Garcelon Field, the tennis courts, the Alumni Memorial Gym, the locker building, the Gray Athletic Building, and the girl's gym, an assemblage of property and buildings extending from Russell Street to Campus Avenue. "This," he laughed cynically (and freshmen are a pretty cynical lot), "Is de-emphasized athletics at Bates. The athletes have a more impressive, more magnificent layout than any single academic subject up here!" But we were freshmen then, and the times have changed.

During our four years at college, to cast dispersion upon collegiate athletics has become increasingly fashionable. The football player is no longer the campus hero. A recent Saturday Evening Post cover summed up the prevailing attitude pretty well. It depicted the big college letter-man standing alone and forsaken as two luscious coeds threw their arms about a bespectacled, studious, Phi-Bet-type individual. Indeed, the pendulum does now seem to have swung the other way, and the days of the big athletic scholarship with their tremendous emphasis on collegiate sports may soon be gone, while in their place may dawn the days of the merit scholarship with the great emphasis now on purely academic pursuits.

Yet in four years at Bates, after having seen our football players slosh through freezing rain on muddy quagmires, having seen the exhausting efforts of Rudy Smith and John Douglas, having seen a group of students organize their own soccer team, having seen the not-especially talented athlete devote hours of time to his sport, receiving only personal satisfaction or inner frustration for his efforts, and having been one of these last myself for a short while, I believe I have seen varsity sports at Bates well justified. The virtues which athletics encourages, namely: teamwork, sportsmanship, strength, discipline, and tenacity need not be dwelt upon here. They do exist, and I am not alone in believing them important and worth-while.

That a school with a male enrollment of about four-hundred-and fifty can field a football team capable of winning the state series, a track team which ranks in national competition, and a basketball team always reckoned a threat, speaks well of the school. But more important is the fact, that, although we win, we don't win all the time. This very tradition is an old one at Bates, for our ALMA MATER itself, takes the philosophical view:

"We have known defeat and victory. . . . ."

And as long as our athletes have to come from our student body without being a group of specially selected people, no doubt the future of athletics here will continue in this same moderate up and down manner.

Football

The unimpressive record, 1-5-1, gained by the 1959 Bobcats presents a one-sided view of the season. The green but game team was never outclassed in any of its contests. The powerful Tufts team was the only club to score more than two touchdowns on the scrappy squad.

The season opened with a sparkling win over Union, 35-14. The following week on Garcelon field saw a spirited, but overpowered Bates team suffer defeat at the hands of the Tufts' Jumbos, 28-12. WPI primed for another upset over the Bobcats, put a damper on Dad's Day by taking advantage of the fumbling Bobcats, 14-6. This was to be the last of the fair weather contests, as the team fought not only opponents but rain and mud the rest of the season. The last game before State Series play found Bates ahead of Middlebury in every department but the score; Middlebury 14-6.

The ever powerful Maine Black Bears blocked Bates Homecoming hopes in the State Series opener. The Bobcats showed stubborn defense and fine punting, but the fleet Maine backs, despite the rain and mud, broke away twice on long runs in the second half to give Maine the edge, 12-0.

At Bowdoin the next week, the Bobcats outclassed the Polar Bear team but ended up with a 0-0 deadlock in the driving rain and mud. The last game of the season found the Colby Mules better "mudders", as they pulled a 14-0 win out of the snow, sleet, and 30 degree temperature. This victory gave Colby its second straight State Series Championship.

Post season honors rewarded three seniors for their consistent, rugged play. Bill Hayes and Jack Flynn received first team positions on the All-Maine teams, selected by coaches and sportswriters. Jack also, was named to the AP All-New England Second team. Jim Wylie received Honorable Mention for the All-New England and Little All-America teams, and won a berth on the All-Chemical, All-America team.

BASKETBALL TEAM

Basketball

Led by their talented Bates captain, Jerry Feld, the Bobcat varsity five concluded the 1959-60 campaign with a winning season. Their sparkling play earned them an impressive record of 12 wins and 11 losses.

Opening the season with a decisive 75-68 win over the University of Massachusetts, the scrappy 'Cats were stopped by Maine. With the Garnet starting five all hitting double figures, they trounced Bowdoin 87-70.

By establishing a new all-time Bates scoring record in the process of defeating Colby, 94-76, the Batesmen entered the Down East Classic with a 4-2 record.

A mid-season slump found the Bobcats losing three straight State Series games placing them below the halfway mark with 5 wins out of 12 games, but they rebounded with a thrilling double overtime victory over Springfield followed by triumphs over MIT, Wesleyan, Babson, and Tufts extending their winning streak to five straight games.

Guided by the improving Jim Sutherland, and the scintillating performance of sophomore, Carl Rapp in scoring 25 points against the Coast Guard, the unpredictable "never-say-die basketeers" entered into the home stretch.

The dependable playmaking of Scott Brown provided the necessary spark for the team. Captain Jerry Feld's outstanding all around playing ability during his four years of varsity competition was indicated by his remarkable record of 906 points.

The season ended with two unsuccessful games with Maine and Colby. However, the highlights of the season indicate a spirited campaign.

WINTER TRACK

Winter Track

The 1959-60 track season brought forth one of the most powerful running teams in New England, and in Bates College history. Bates won 5 while losing 0. Powerful Maine was humbled at the Bates Cage by the crushing score of 71-51. Other wins came over New Hampshire, Tufts, M.I.T., and Bowdoin. An outstanding performance also was turned in by Bates men at the Maine A.A.U. Meet at Bowdoin.

Rudy Smith and John Douglas, both seniors, leave Bates this year after four seasons of recording-making performances that should dominate Maine track for many years. Other standouts being lost this season are "ironman" Bob Erdman, Jerry Walsh, Pete Allen, and Doug Morse.

Those returning next season are such standouts as Pete Schuyler, Barry Gilvar, Frank Vana, Dave Boone, Larry Boston, and a host of promising underclassmen. These boys should lead another well-balanced Bates team to victory.

TRACK TEAM (SPRING '59)

Spring Track

The 1959 Spring Track team lost only one meet. The powerful Black Bears of Maine continued putting the damper on the hopes of the Slovenski men by nosing them out in the State Series Meet at Waterville. This was the first and only defeat in the past three seasons for the thinclads.

Although not as strong in the weights as in previous seasons, Bates formed a strong running nucleus around such standouts as Smith, Douglas, Schuyler and Gilvar. Wins came over Colby, Brandeis, Bowdoin, and Northeastern.

Again Smith and Douglas individually carried Bates into national prominence through their participation in such meets as the Quantico Relays, Penn Relays, the New Englands, and the I.C.A.A.A.A. meets in New York's Madison Square Garden.

Douglas turned in an outstanding performance when he broad-jumped 25′ 1½″ in the Quantico Relays to make him one of the top jumpers in the country. Douglas also placed second in the broad jump at the Penn Relays, and third in the hop-skip-and-jump.

Smith, competing in the 440, ran a record time of 46.9, but came in second to Pan-American winner Basilince of Tufts in the New Englands. Smith accomplished on outstanding feat when the same day he won the one-half mile run.

1959 BASEBALL TEAM

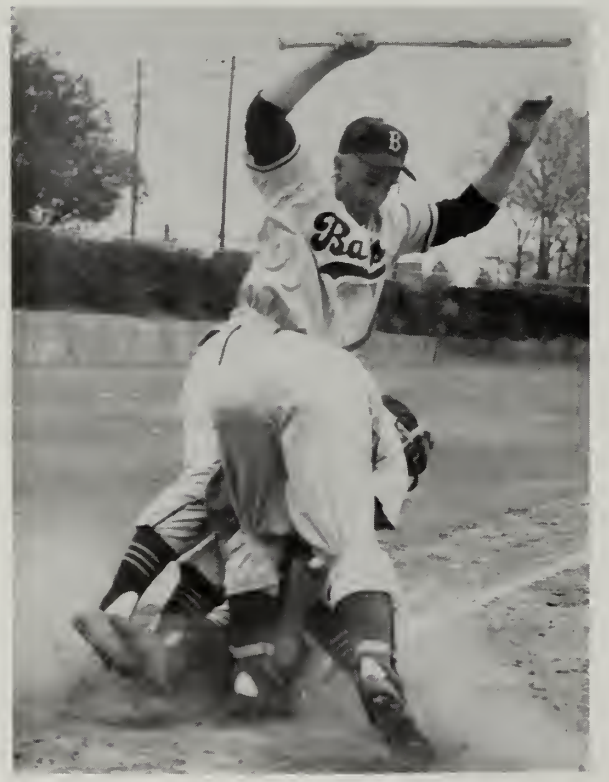
Baseball

The 1959 Bobcat baseball team finished the hard fought season with a record of 3 wins and 11 loses. The team pulled victories over Lowell 11-3; U. of Maine 12-11; and Clark 9-4. The scrappy Bates team lost close matches to Brandeis 8-6; Tufts 4-3; Colby 14-11 and 4-2; and Northeastern 5-3.



The pitching staff was composed entirely of left handers Jerry Feld, Bob Graves, Dick Wilson, and Jim Sutherland—all of whom will be returning for the 1960 campaigns.

In the batting department, senior and Captain Wayne Kane led the team in State Series play with a .409 average. He was followed by: Joe Murphy .320; "Bear" Millett .304; Jim Sutherland .286; and Dick Moraes .273.

Freshman Dick Wilson gained the greatest number of strike outs in one game with a total of 11. Dick also had the best record of the pitchers, 2-2. Bob Graves was the only other pitcher to figure in the win column, though Jerry Feld and Jim Sutherland lost some heart-breakers through errors and mistakes in the field.

With the entire pitching staff and a well balanced nucleus returning the 1960 Bobcat baseball team should have a bright future.

Post season honors went to senior Dick Moraes, an All-Maine outfielder.

CROSS COUNTRY TEAM

Coach W. Slovenski, D. Randall, L. Boston, R. Bates (Capt.), R. Smith, P. Schuyler, J. Young, R. Davidson.

Cross Country

In their second year as a varsity sport the cross country team compiled a 2-3 record. The team started the season with a third in a quadrangle meet with MIT, B.C. and Brandeis. From this point the Bobcats went on to defeat the University of New Brunswick and WPI with ease. In their encounter with Maine they lost 15-50 at the hands of a well-balanced club. The last meet found them losing a heartbreaker to Bowdoin 29-31.

1959 SOCCER CLUB

Soccer

The soccer "club" compiled an unenviable record of 2 wins and 5 loses; but it is the noticeable spirit and increase in skill that more than compensate for the record. Many of the original turnout of 45 men will be back next year, as the club is recognized as a varsity sport for the first time. The services of G. Deuillet, B. Gretzenberg, J. Mines, G. van Burk, and Co-Captain F. Turner will be sorely missed.

TENNIS TEAM

Tennis

Under the able direction of Dr. Robert Peck, the 1959 edition of the Bates Tennis team compiled a 6-5 record. The team was strengthened by the return of Ralph Bixler and a crop of freshmen, who were led by Neil MacKenzie who posted a 10-1 slate in singles.

With the entire team returning the prospects for the coming season are indeed bright. The team will again be captained by David Graham.

GOLF TEAM

Coach R. Hatch, W. Hawksworth, J. Prothero, T. Hawkins, R. Deacon (Capt.), W. Heidel, R. Zering, J. Allen.

Golf

The past season with a 2-9 record was highlighted by the stimulating play of Ross Deacon, as he won the first match of his college career.

Captain Jon Prothero will lead the hopeful returning veterans: John Allen, Lefty Gove, Bill Hawksworth, Ed Stiles, and Mal Johnson.

Not that there wasn't variety. Our social life ranged from dances to days on the beach, from the rustle and sheen of taffeta to the slap of waves on sand and the lip-prints of the sun on faces. Nothing stands out, there are only impressions —

Of whirling couples in red and white checked gingham and blue dungarees, (just sneakers, please), dancing with their partners, swinging with their corners, blistering bare feet —

Of sitting straight and silently in the Chapel, with the rise and fall of the speaker's voice (what is he saying?), the ghosts of those other listeners beside you and the musty smell of dust and floor wax and wet winter coats —

Of people crowded into booths, their elbows resting on tables covered with red-checked cloth, and the jukebox playing so loud you can't hear (and you want to dance); verbally hammering life's problems into and out of shape, you agreeing with everyone and then going away and thinking about it yourself —

Of sitting in the dark at your window, watching shadowy figures moving across the grass, listening to the thunk of nails being driven into wood and the murmur of low-voiced directions; waking up breathless and walking out into fantasyland —

Of falling and laughing and rising covered with cold white frosting; dancing and dancing and coming home with the moonlight giving life to the grotesque figures made by cold willing hands (will there be enough snow?) —

Of marching and marching, halting between each step, down the long center aisle (what will it be like next year?); living through it and planting the ivy — where?

The details are gone.

"Speak to us of ivy and the institution,
Of fond memories and wisdom gained,"
They ask the young men who would please them.
The gray man could do it
When a child asked of grass,
And give a multifarious answer,
Full of joy, warm breezes, and green, green leaves,
And hope that in his singing America it could be so.

The good gray poet is dead a lifetime now.
And what was young and green in the gentle rain
And sprang lightly upward in the young sun of his years
Now leans against and covers up the wall.
Its tendrils clutch in desperation
At the crumbling, moss-grown mortar,
Which at the clutching only crumbles more.

We will speak to you of ivy
In a voice of strange admixtures—
Selfish caution, secret rage,
Sullen submission and mirthless smiles,
Bloodless leering, sad-faced dancing,
Hopeless music, dreamless plans.

The leaves of ivy whisper softly,
Lest the supporting walls should hear—
When we sank our roots and started climbing,
The wall held promises of light and air,
Now we flutter near the cornice—
"Go no higher," says the wall.

The way was false, the wall deceiving.
We can go no higher here.
But we grow thick and we grow heavy,
And cling closer to the wall—
Half in hope to save ourselves,
Half praying to tear the deceiver down.

When the first poet planted ivy,
He planted trees for it to climb.
As it grew, the trees kept growing;
The good year's moisture fed them both.
Sunlight blessed them both; they prospered.
Drought denied them; parched the two.
Songbirds nested in the ivy,
And the fruitful trees were glad.
Lightning scarred the great tree's body,
And ivy helped to hide the wound.

But this unfeeling brick and mortar
Never grows and never grows.
It predefines its limitation,
And aspiration tapers to a gable.
And how does it entice the ivy?
Not with songbirds or an infinite goal,
But with a promise of a safe supporting,
A strength to last a normal wind.

You, the undistinguished bricks,
We, the pleasant, faceless leaves—
We serve each other.
Your certain strength supports us now;
Our pleasant greenness masks your soulless face.

The keepers of the wall come by,
And where we grow too heavy,
Cut us down.
But they must never sleep,
For we keep growing.
And the mortar crumbles more.
Brick dust and powdered mortar coat our leaves.
And our tendrils twist still deeper—
Holding, tearing, growing and destroying.

This is what the ivy says
When it speaks of the institution.
This is the multifarious voice
We lift to you, the makers of these walls.
We see the wall is weakening.
When it falls, we must fall too.
But we will not be merely ruins.
We can cover up your rubble,
And search again for trees.

Bates Fabrics and Bates College

The fine Bates name, the "brand name" of our products and the name of Bates College, comes from our common ancestor, Benjamin E. Bates.

We who make fine fabrics for all America are proud of the close ties between college and company. May they continue for all time.
